It’s a current trend to stage an intervention, but the only way we can get to long-term sobriety is when we each decide. Moreover, time will add up to your worry; of the hour of need you may not have adequate time to search.